Help Alaska Native Voters

Be A Bilingual Election Worker

Produced by the
Alaska Division of Elections

Be A Bilingual Election Worker.

If you can fluently speak English and your local Alaska Native language...

If you'd like to get paid to use your Native language skills and to serve your community...

If you like helping people...

Sign up to be a bilingual election worker today!

The Division of Elections language assistance plan provides for bilingual election workers and translators in areas where there are limited English proficient voters.

In order to provide effective language assistance, we need Alaska Native language speakers in many rural communities to serve as:

◆ Bilingual outreach workers.

Provide language assistance for voter registration and election information to limited English proficient voters.

◆ Bilingual poll workers.

Provide language assistance at the polls on Election Day.

You just need to be a registered voter who can speak English and your local Alaska Native language.

Apply Today!

Your Community Will Thank You.

It's as easy as 1-2-3.

1 First, you'll attend a paid training session to learn how to be a bilingual election worker.

2 The Division of Elections provides you with all the materials you will need to do your job.

3 Finally, you'll provide any needed language assistance during the electoral process to voters in your community.

The limited English proficient voters in your community are counting on you. Fill out the form on the opposite page and apply today to pitch in.
