Other:

I have a wide range of experience in both the government and private sectors. I understand how to balance a budget without losing services, protect workers' rights, support quality education and bring forth workable ideas. We need fresh faces in Juneau, ones who are not afraid to work across the aisle and ‘try something new.’ I have been ‘trying something new’ in Alaska for 52 years.

Position Statement:

Two years ago, I walked every precinct and knocked on over 3,000 doors. I listened and learned while chatting with voters and the input was invaluable. You wanted what I want: funding to provide excellent public education for pre-K through 12th grade, our university system & technical training (for future Alaska Gasline jobs); affordable healthcare; improved public safety & safe neighborhoods for our families; increased mental health and drug & alcohol treatment services; to protect our PFD, diversified economic development and good paying jobs.

Now, more than ever, as we continue to face serious fiscal challenges, Alaska needs to elect individuals who will not be afraid to stand up, put politics aside and work together on realistic long-term solutions – like a long-term, sustainable fiscal plan. Blazing these new pathways and making honest decisions based on matters of principal will go a long way towards ensuring Alaskans a more stable, secure and prosperous economic future and better quality of life for future generations. The clock is ticking.

So, where do we go from here? Good government depends on the election of leaders who are passionately dedicated to working for the best interests of all citizens in the tradition of our Alaska Spirit of shared values and responsibility. I can honestly commit to you, I will always choose in the “public’s interest” rather than that of “special interest.”

Your vote would be an honor.
