Lucy emigrated from China nearly 30 years ago, arriving with only a few dollars in her pocket. Driven by hope and determination, she toiled tirelessly in various jobs and eventually began running assisted living homes for society's most vulnerable. Lucy's perseverance and resilience exemplify the spirit of America. Now, as a proud citizen, she feels a deep sense of gratitude toward the country and the state of Alaska that embraced her. Lucy is committed to serving her community.

Position Statement

Lucy is a strong advocate for mental health awareness and care for our most vulnerable. She has tirelessly championed policies that improve access to mental health services and reduce the stigma surrounding mental illness. Addressing mental health issues is vital for reducing homelessness, crime, and self-harm. Lucy believes that we as a community need to focus on the roots of our problem to find meaningful remedies that will bring about real change.

Lucy understands the challenges Alaskan families are facing in a tough economy plagued with rising inflation. As a small business owner, she is committed to removing unnecessary government barriers that hinder small business growth. Lucy will advocate for responsible development of our natural resources recognizing that it is the lifeblood of our economy.

Lucy supports parental choice when it comes to education. Parents know the academic needs of their children best. Schools exist to serve families - not the other way around. When it comes to low-income families, they should have access to the same advantages that upper income families can afford. Lucy understands that quality education is vital to a child's success. She will hold the education establishment accountable.
