Other (Biographical Information):

I am a third generation Alaskan. My father helped build the Trans-Alaska Pipeline as a Teamster. Over 30 years ago, I brought my new husband back to Alaska from college and we raised our four children here. I have been involved in Alaska public policy for years, both inside and outside government. I have spent my life bringing people together, solving problems, fighting for our communities, and standing up for Alaska's future. I will continue to do that in the Legislature.

Position Statement

I'm guided by a positive vision of Alaska as strong, safe, and smart; where our children will want to stay and raise their own children. By working together, I believe Alaska's best days are ahead.

The safety and security of all Alaska communities must be a priority. The state must be able to recruit and retain first responders and teachers. With hundreds of current vacancies, we must put in place a competitive compensation and retirement package that attracts and keeps excellent workers.

Every child deserves a first-rate education. Alaska needs to attract enough high-quality teachers to keep class sizes at appropriate levels.

Alaskans must have access to high-quality affordable healthcare. Every woman has the basic human right to decide her healthcare decisions for herself, without interference from the government. Our growing elder population must find care that is affordable here in Alaska.

Economic growth requires low-cost energy. The Railbelt needs a long-term strategy to ensure stable and cost-effective energy. Responsible natural resource development will continue to be central to Alaska's economy, especially as the globe transitions to sustainable energy sources. We must take advantage of new federal investments in Alaska's housing, healthcare, and energy, and create a plan to diversify job growth into different industries across the state.

Finally, the time is now to develop a sustainable fiscal system and balanced budget. I bring an open heart, an open mind, courage, and Alaskan values of community and cooperation to the Legislature to get things done.
