Biographical Information

I thank God and Jesus for my wonderful wife, Mary, who stuck by me for forty-three years. I was Born in Seldovia, Alaska, in 1944. Mother Lois, Nurse. Father, Henry Kroll, spoke five languages, captured three live wolverines, sold them for $900 apiece in 1929, bought a plane, and flew helicopters.

I enrolled at the University of Alaska in 1962, majoring in Electrical Engineering, servicing the ionospheric research transmitter, forerunner of the HMRP project. Two years at the University of Sheldon Jackson, Sitka, and the University of Corpus Christi, Texas, and also hazmat courses in Valdez.

I fished king crab for 22 years, salmon for 74 years, delivering millions of pounds to Homer and Seldovia. I purchased the 76-foot Mary M, the 165-foot Victoria, and piloted boats from Alaska to Seattle five times. Tendered salmon, fifty+ years crossing Cook Inlet 2500+ times.

Position Statement

Past administrations have put Alaskans in danger of starving because we don't have enough farms. If there is a war in the lower states or Yellowstone Volcano goes off, destroying most crop land, or an EMP from the sun destroys the grid, no food will be shipped to Alaska. If Russia or China detonates a nuke over the U.S., it could also destroy the grid and render all tractors useless. China and billionaires like Bill Gates have been buying up farmland, and I don't believe their intentions are benevolent.

I wrote "Make Alaska Great Again" five years ago to address the food security threat.

- I will fix our failed school system using the latest AI technology.
- Increase farm production for food security by getting the 28-million acres of land from the Feds. Trade one acre of land per one dividend check to save the Dividend.
- Increase tourism and food production by stocking lakes with fish. Landowners can charge people to come on their land to fish. Millions of people will be coming to Alaska.
- If you want failed policies and woke ideas, vote for the other guy. Native born Alaskan, Captain Henry Kroll is the author of 13 books. As a commercial crab fisherman for 22 years and a salmon fisherman for 74 years, he knows how to fix problems.
- Read "Make Alaska Great Again". It's free to download at: www.HankKroll.com or you can purchase it at: www.HenryKroll.com. It will scare you!
