Position Statement:
My name is Stephen Trimble and I’m running for your consideration as House Representative. I’m a father, husband, entrepreneur and third-generation Sand Lake resident. My grandfather came north to work on the original Alaska gas pipeline, and my family has been involved in Alaska’s mining and energy industries ever since.

I was born and raised in Anchorage. I’m a product of our public schools, from kindergarten through college. I’ve spent my career working in the mining and energy industries, both traditional and alternative.

Public service is vital to me—it’s how we collaborate to build a better place to live. I’ve served on the Alaska Minerals Commission, The Alaska Arctic Policy Commission, and the Nature Conservancy, among others.

This election is critical. The future of our state is in the balance. We’re facing an economic crisis (long in the making) that’s been pushed over the edge by a global pandemic. Every aspect of our economy is suffering; resource development, tourism, fishing, and small businesses. We must put partisanship aside and work together to develop the best ideas by placing the needs of Alaskans first. My background in resource development, management, entrepreneurship and energy enables me to bring unique experiences and solutions to the legislature.

I’m championing Alaskans first by prioritizing the following:
A diversified economy built for the 22nd century
A restored education system that will develop the best talent in Alaska
A Permanent Fund that is secured for future generations.

I look forward to working with you.
